ALDERMEN GET 3 SCHEMES FOR WATER METERS

Ponder Revenues vs. Users' Votes.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

After more than three hours of discussion, much of it of a rough-neck variety, the council finance committee left the impression that it will recommend water meters for all consumers, in accordance with the order of the water department.

Half a dozen members, some who privately said they will vote against meters, predicted favorable committee action.

The nature of the ordinance, however, is a matter of considerable doubt. Unless forced to it, it is improbable that the committee will approve the ordinance prepared by Dabney H. Maury, water engineer, for Commissioner of Public Works Sprague.

Provides Graduated Payments.

The ordinance, technically the one pending, provides for a service charge based on the size of the meter, and then three rates for water, according to the amount consumed. The domestic rate, where consumers use not more than 2,000 cubic feet per month, is $1.25 per 1,000 cubic feet. The intermediate rate, applicable to users of 3,000 to 23,000 cubic feet per month, is 90 cents per 1,000 cubic feet; and the manufacturing rate, for users of more than 23,000 cubic feet per month, is 80 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

Present Meter Rate 62½¢.

The present meter rate, paid by about one-tenth of the water users who pay about five-eighths of the water plant revenue, is 62½ cents per 1,000 cubic feet, subject to a discount of 25 per cent if paid within 30 days.

MANY TRAPPED IN FIRE RUINS AT KANSAS CITY

Hunt for Dead in Debris of the Gillis.

BULLETIN.

Kansas City, Mo., June 26.—(Special)—At 3 a. m. the Star-Times estimates that there may be from 30 to 40 bodies in the fire ruins of the Gillis theater. The fire chief has 100 volunteers ready to search the ruins as soon as the flames die down.

Kansas City, Mo., June 26.—(AP)—An unknown number of persons, which may range from a few to more than a score, are believed to have met death when an explosion and fire destroyed the Gillis theater building here last night.

An audience of fewer than 100 was witnessing a motion picture film in the theater when a tremendous blast lifted the roof and the main floor gave way, flames sweeping the building immediately.

The walls soon crumbled and fourteen stores located in the building and in adjoining structures also were destroyed.

Buried in Debris.

Several hours after the theater was reduced to ruins it was impossible to gain definite information as to the number of persons trapped, but Fire Chief Alex. Henderson said his men reported several persons were buried in the debris.

John Hogan, a fireman, was killed and two others were seriously injured when a fire truck on the way to the scene crashed into a telephone pole.

Many of the injured were victims of the falling balcony of the theater, spectators at the show declared. It broke into splinters and the flying pieces cut the patrons as they scrambled for escape.

Blast Cause Undetermined.

The cause of the explosion could not be determined. It was first reported that the blast occurred in a restaurant underneath the theater. A second report was that it occurred in a drug store.

W.H. Sandy, 23, said the floor gave way after the ceiling fell. Before the floor gave way he was able to seize an iron beam in the ceiling and pull him half over hand to safety.

A newspaper reporter who rushed to the scene there were many bleeding and injured persons crying in the streets. Some were treated at quickly established emergency stations in nearby hotels and stores. Other injured were rushed to hospitals in private cars and ambulances.

The Gillis theater, located on the north side, is the oldest amusement house in the city. It is the oldest amusement house in the city.

In recent years it has been featuring low priced burlesque shows.

JACK DURAND
SEIZED IN PARK
IN LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Cal., June 25.—A merry man on a Venice amusement pier tonight threw a ball at the "pan," released a dusky figure from his high perch over a pool of water, and the youth dropped into the hands of a trio of detectives who arrested the supposed "negro" as Jack Durand, adopted son of Scott Durand, a Chicago millionaire.

Young Durand, the police said, admitted his identity. His lamp-black makeup was removed and the young man was brought to the city jail and locked up on the request of the Chicago police, who wanted to question him in connection with the confession of a bandit of burglars in Chicago.

Assistant Captain of Detectives Cato and McCarron, together with Pinkerton Detective Olson, reported that when he was arrested Durand said: "I didn't do anything in Chicago. Some body just squawked."

FOUR SCHOOLS TO SHARE IN ESTATE OF DR. E. J. JAMES

Urbana, Ill., June 25.—(Special)—The will of Dr. Edmund J. James, president emeritus of the University of Illinois, whose death occurred last week in California, was filed today for probate. The estate, not valued in the document, is divided into four equal parts, the three children to receive one-fourth each and the remaining one-fourth to be divided equally between McEndree college of Leavenworth, Ill., the Illinois Women's College, Jacksonville; Illinois Wesleyan, Bloomington, and the Wesley foundation at the University of Illinois.

Mr. H. C. Erickson, 539 East Illinois street, vice president of the Protestant welfare corporation, who sat next to the man in the stern of the boat, described him as 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighing 175 pounds, poorly dressed, and wearing a fedora hat.

He refused a life saver thrown to him, and when a boat was lowered he swam away and sank. Efforts were made to find the body, and the Saugatuck proceeded with its load of 20 or more merrymakers.</p verdict of not guilty" in record time, no longer than it takes you to sign your name." Then he continued: "There are limits to everything. In my humble way I am going to try and convince you beyond a reasonable doubt, that she deserves more sympathy and through Judge Olson and the testimony in this case, through his own actions in this case, that there never was a letter written by Shepherd to the Falman school, that that letter never was in the file when Falman said that it was, and that Olson, above all people, knew it was not in the file and that he knew it now.

Give Her Money.

"We put Miss Rheubell on the stand, the poor unfortunate woman who is arrested and accused for disorderly conduct, and she was indeed, and when she was down and out with the smell of the jail upon her and the Bridewell facing her, and when she wanted to leave town in disgrace I felt for her and undertook to pay her fine, and I thought her testimony. If it were true, which I did not know, that she was only in the defense but to justice, to give her enough money so that she could have bread and butter and something to live upon until she could appear at this trial.

"And I did not make any mistake. Let me see if I did.

"It has been testified here that Marshard was given a letter by Falman, and that he then went and saw to it that he returned that letter to Falman, and that letter was put in the file in 1928. Falman says it remained in the file until he gave it to Shepherd, when Shepherd made some kind of a humorous arrangement with him to give him $50 on account of $500 due.

"Mrs. Rheubell says there was no such letter, and without any contradiction Falman didn't take the stand. Falman is the lightning change artist.

Two Classes of Witnesses.

"You know, all witnesses are divided into two classes, men and women. To which class does he belong?

"The first time they put him on the stand he appeared in blue with tan crayon, and the next time he appeared in tan with a blue crayon.

"They didn't dare put him on the stand to rebut Miss Rheubell, for fear he would come here in a teddy bear and kittens.

"But he didn't come back here to testify either with or without being summoned to by Judge Olson or his assistants, and no woman has discredited the testimony of Mrs. Rheubell."

TURNS ON MISS POPE

Attorney O'Brien discussed Falman, Rongetti and Marchand to his heart's content. Nothing was too low for him to say of any of them.

He drew Assistant State's Attorney Savage into his discourse as he talked of what a "sweet child" Rongetti was and how he had treated him.

The same Miss Pope's turn. O'Brien is talking about her:

"And did you notice the way in which Miss Pope answered that question about the will? She is a lovely girl, a delightful girl. All of the girls are delightful; they are all charming. Scott says, 'Have you any arrangement to receive any money?' O, well, you have to see the lawyers about that."

"I would like to see her get it if

CHIEF COLLINS TELLS HOW TO PREVENT THEFT OF YOUR CAR

During May 887 automobiles were stolen in Chicago. Subsequently 478 were recovered by their owners, according to police department records. Most of the thefts were preventable, asserts Chief of Police Collins in a bulletin issued yesterday to the association of motorists who would outlaw the thief.

"Always lock your car, whether on the street or in a private garage," advises the chief. "Lock the ignition, transmission and wheel. On closed cars, lock the doors and be sure that the windows and windshield are closed.

"Telephone the police station imme

Dayton, Tenn., June 25.—(AP)—A list of scientific experts who will be called to testify in the defense of John T. Scopes for alleged violation of the Tennessee law prohibiting teaching of evolution in the schools of the state was announced tonight by Dudley Field Malone of New York, associated with counsel for the defendant.

The list, made public shortly after Mr. Malone's arrival in Dayton, includes both scientific advisers and witnesses. It was published after conference with Judge John L. Godsey and Dr. John R. Neal, defense coun-

All Will Be Present.

All witnesses have signified their willingness to appear, said Mr. Malone, who was chosen at a recent meeting of defense attorneys to preside.

The list follows: Dr. Henry Fairchild Osborne, research professor of zoology, Columbia university; author of "The Earth Speaks to Bryan," and the most active opponent of Mr. Bryan in the present discussion.

Dr. Edwin Conklin, professor of biology, Princeton university, author of "Direction of Human Evolution."

Michael Pupin, professor of electro-mechanics, Columbia university; distinguished author, scientist, and inventor of the loading coils that made possible the long distance telephone.

Prof. Kirkley F. Mather, chief of the department of geology, Harvard university, and one of the leading geological authorities in the United States.

Yale Biologist Selected.

Prof. L. F. Rettig, biologist of Yale university.

Prof. Maynard M. Metcalf of the zoology department, Oberlin college, Ohio.

Arthur M. Miller, professor of geology, University of Kentucky.

Henry Higginson, professor of geology, University of Kansas.

Dr. Edward L. Rice, professor of biology, Ohio Wesleyan university, author of address entitled "Darwin and Bryan."

Dr. J. G. Lipman, biologist, Rutgers college, New Brunswick, N. J., acknowledged as a leader in his branch of science.

Dr. Ward J. MacNeal, chief biologist of the Graduate Medical school, New York City.

Mr. Malone said all these advisers and witnesses are active members of various denominations of Christian religion.

More than seventy teachers were elected for the Rhea county schools today at a meeting of the school board. John Thomas Scopes was not among them. The application of Mr. Scopes for reselection was held in abeyance pending the outcome of his trial.

DARROW TELLS PLANS

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

A far-flung battle line of the evolutionists against the fundamentalists who would write their religious beliefs into the laws of the country is foreseen by Attorney Clarence S. Darrow, who returned to Chicago yesterday from a visit to Dayton, Tenn., scene of the court conflict before which the trial of J. T. Scopes will begin July 10 in the trial of J. T. Scopes.

"We must take it seriously," Mr. Darrow said. "Already there is a well-organized crowd to take the fight to the Pacific coast and even Oregon, Washington, and California to pass laws against the teaching of evolution.

Regards Case as Big Test.

They have decided to make a real out of this and go the full way seeking to keep dark the minds of Darrow, who returned to Chicago yesterday from a visit to Dayton, Tenn., scene of the court conflict before which the trial of J. T. Scopes will begin July 10 in the trial of J. T. Scopes.

"The trial is expected to last a month," he said. "The Progressive club of Chicago, asking them to co-operate with us," reported Fire Commissioner Connelly. "We have called their attention to the fact that the Chicago Fire department has always responded to their appeals for help in times of fire and disaster and that we are entitled to their aid in curbing the fireworks menace. Park Ridge, Riverdale, River Forest, Delton, Whiting, Ind., and others have agreed to do so. Some of the worst offenders nearest the city we have not heard from."

What Sellers are Told.

"Where we have found illicit fireworks on sale our officers have visited the offender's place of business," said Chief Engineer Plant of the fire prevention bureau. "We tell him he can do one of three things: Put his fire works in a water barrel, take them outside the city limits or be arrested."

The Chief Problem.

Sale of illicit fireworks on the outskirts of the city by roadside stands and small stores, furnishes the chief problem in the fight. Although a city ordinance prohibits the use of fireworks without a permit, scores of these temporary dealers in the suburbs and the sheriff warnings that laws governing the sale of explosives this year will be rigorously enforced.

Sale of illicit fireworks on the outskirts of the city by roadside stands and small stores, furnishes the chief problem in the fight. Although a city ordinance prohibits the use of fireworks without a permit, scores of these temporary dealers in the suburbs and the sheriff warnings that laws governing the sale of explosives this year will be rigorously enforced.

The Chief Problem.

"We have sent out letters to 65 towns and villages in the vicinity of Chicago asking them to co-operate with us," reported Fire Commissioner Connelly. "We have called their attention to the fact that the Chicago Fire department has always responded to their appeals for help in times of fire and disaster and that we are entitled to their aid in curbing the fireworks menace. Park Ridge, Riverdale, River Forest, Delton, Whiting, Ind., and others have agreed to do so. Some of the worst offenders nearest the city we have not heard from."

What Sellers are Told.

100 TEACHERS FACE TRIAL FOR INEFFICIENCY

Called Before McAndrew — May Lose Jobs.

Nearly 100 school teachers will be called before Supt. William McAndrew today to explain why they have been repeatedly marked inefficient in their work. Dismissal from their positions may result.

It is the first time in school history here that the superintendent has called teachers to task for poor work and his move, if dismissal is recommended, is expected to precipitate a bitter row between the school chief and teachers' organizations. Only one member of the teaching staff of the 12,000 in the system has been dismissed for inefficiency during the past sixteen months.

Supt. McAndrew's Stand. Supt. McAndrew takes the stand that the Chicago system can no longer tolerate teachers who do not measure up to standard and intends to recommend dismissal for those who prove unfit.

He holds that in every walk of life employees must give satisfactory service or suffer dismissal. The schools, he believes, are no different and have a right to demand satisfactory service as well as any other corporation.

The teachers to appear before the superintendent and his assistants so that they may be satisfied that teachers marked inefficient are deserving of that rating. Supt. McAndrew cited an example of a principal who recently gave a teacher a low rating and later admitted that he never had visited her class nor observed her work.

Two Classes of Teachers. In cases where teachers are in the service more than three years charges will be brought against them and they are found inefficient and trial by the school administration committee follows. The teachers' tenure rule provides that teachers may only be dismissed in this way.

Those in the system less than three years may be dismissed at any time if found lacking.

Lawyer Says Secession Plan of Chicago Is Not Impossible

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

Can Cook county secede from the rest of Illinois, form a distinct state of itself, and put the forty-ninth state in Old Glory?

Opponents who are disposed to jeer at the idea as preposterous, silly, and impossible and who point to the ordinance of 1787 as a document prohibiting the creation of another state in the old Northwest territory were answered yesterday by John A. Watson, legal aide to John B. Fergus, and special attorney for the city of Chicago. Watson, a manipulative legislator, forced the legislature to force a reappointment.

Corporation Counsel Busch, who was directed by the Toman resolution adopted by the city council to look into the question as a peaceful secession from Illinois was out of town yesterday but is expected to refer the council's request to Mr. Watson.

Machinery Is in Existence.

The machinery exists, Mr. Watson says, for forming a new and separate state out of Cook county and possibly some of the other northern counties it is feasible under federal constitution.

The question is, Can Chicago make this machinery go?

Section 3 of Article 4 of the constitution of the United States says: "New states may be admitted by the congress of this Union; but no new state shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other state, nor any state be formed by the jurisdiction of two or more states or parts of states without the consent of the legislatures of the states concerned as well as of the congress."

Thus Cook county must get the consent of the legislature and then obtain a vote from congress before it can break its bonds. If the rest of Illinois wants to keep Cook county as a part of the state it appears that Chicago will continue to wear the apron strings until Mother Illinois says it can go out when it can be accomplished.

Cite Ordinance of 1787.

"But don't say it cannot be done," said Mr. Watson. "It cannot be done when it can be accomplished."

Scorners who cite the ordinance of 1787 refer to that section which says: "There shall be formed out of the (old Northwest) territory not less than three nor more than five states." Five states have been carved out of the territory and some of the theorists say this fact forever precludes the possibility of forming another state because the ordinance antedates the constitution.

By the same token, according to Mr. Watson, this provision of the ordinance was superseded a year later when the constitution was established upon the ratification by New Hampshire, the ninth state, on June 21, 1788.

Watson has his point into the old section that denies Chicago its full share of representation at Springfield.

A referendum on the question of divorcing Chicago from Illinois is within the possibilities to be considered by the next legislature.

It has been found that the bill to

SMALL SEEKS TO REVIVE $402,664 COURT AWARDS

Calls Leaders to Adjust Claims Deadlock.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Chicago Tribune Special

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 25.—In conference with Senator Richard J. Barn, president pro tem. of the upper chamber, and Speaker Robert Scholz and Majority Leader Reed Cutler of the lower house, Gov. Small today discussed the chances of bringing the $402,664 appropriation for the court of claims back to life.

Disagreements in two conference committees on the final day of legislative action off the Hill stand in the way of action on the bill, but the governor will send out an urgent call for a full attendance of the senate next Tuesday, when sine die adjournment will be taken.

Asks Senate to Recede.

The present plan is to ask the senate to recede from its amendments, one of the causes of the deadlock. Then the bill could be passed as it left the house.

The only obstacle in the way is that the wording of the sine die resolution would not be in accordance with the bill.

There is no time to go into the old section that denies Chicago its full share of representation at Springfield.

A referendum on the question of divorcing Chicago from Illinois is within the possibilities to be considered by the next legislature.

It has been found that the bill to grant bonus benefits to world war veterans who served less than sixty days is not worth the trouble to write.

The time limit for applications by sixty day men is July 1, and the law cannot take effect before that date.

Its backers intended to have the date changed, but somebody forgot.

Boxing Bill Protested.

Although there were no official announcements of bills signed today, it was reported that Small has approved the bills increasing the salaries of downstate probate and county judges.

Efforts to learn his decision on the boxing bill have been unsuccessful.

REDUCE, AND NOT ABOLISH ESTATE TAX, IS PROPOSED

Mellon Favors Merely Modified Law.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., June 25.—[Special.] Not the abolition, but the reduction of inheritance taxes under a scheme of cooperation between the federal government and the states will be sought by the administration when the tax reduction bill is before Congress next winter.

That Secretary Mellon, who has advocated abolition of federal inheritance taxes, has modified his attitude because known today following a conference between him and Representative Green (Rep., Ia.), chairman of the House ways and means committee, on the tax reduction program.

Mr. Green is the author of a plan to reduce inheritance taxes and do away with the overlapping of state and federal inheritance taxation which finds favor with Secretary Mellon in principle, and he took the plan under consideration.

Congress' Attitude Certain.

Treasury officials generally concede the futility of pressing congress to reduce inheritance taxes and leave such taxes to the several states, but nothing definite is known as to the sentiment in Congress.

It is known to be strongly in favor of continuing federal taxation on estates, though not necessarily at so high a rate as at present.

Mr. Green is opposed to abolition of federal inheritance taxes, pointing out that if there were no national tax, persons could escape such imposts by taking up residence in Florida or the District of Columbia, where no death duties are exacted under local law.

Plan to Share the Dodgers.

As matters now stand, an estate is required to pay taxes to both the federal government and the state in which it resides. Washington is credit of only 3 per cent of the state tax. That imposes persons to take up residence in Florida and the District of Columbia, where only the federal tax is paid. Mr. Green would remove that inducement by crediting the entire state inheritance tax on the federal estate tax in case of states that agree to forego use of property of a nonresident decedent.

"The ease with which a state tax can be circumvented is provided by simply taking a residence in either Florida or the District of Columbia, where a large portion of the wealthy people now have homes, makes it entirely impracticable to abolish such federal tax, and I am opposed to its abolishment for other reasons as well," said Mr. Green today.

Uniformity Is Chief Aim.

"The real sought is to so prepare the law that, instead of there being an opportunity to escape it on the part of those who most ought to pay, the tax

'White Mule' Kicking Scotch Out of Favor in New York

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

New York, June 25.—[Special.] Latest styles in the bootleg custom show a pronounced swing towards bourbon and rye—home grown stuff and away from the classics of foreign makers, the bulk of which is spurious running the shaggy Scots out of favor.

While stills from stills in Kentucky, Virginia, Tennessee and elsewhere in the hills is coming here in quantity. It is deodorized and colored, and, after this treatment, it brings a higher price than many brands of Scotch, so some purveyors to the exclusive hotel trade affirm.

Turn to Synthetic Gin.

Also, New York appears to have turned strongly to the synthetic beverages. The seasoned customer is acquiring the habit of buying alcohol by the gallon and shaking up his own. In offices one finds men who a year ago invited to a cup of Scotch now setting out the gin bottle. It is, usually accompanied by a dissertation upon authenticity.

A gallon of grain alcohol can now be bought for $8 or $10, or even less, and the question of its chemical purity can be learned by a small fee to a chemist. So many of the hearty drinkers are buying straight "alky" as a foundation for cocktails and are building up their own beverages, giving it a medicinal. This cultural movement got a far earlier start in Chicago and points west, and now it seems to be an advancing tendency east of the Hudson.

Industrial Alcohol's Growth.

The tremendous growth in the making of industrial alcohol is accounted one cause. In 1920 the alcohol produced at industrial alcohol plants was 17,000,000 proof gallons. In 1924 it was 136,000,000 gallons—a sevenfold increase in four years. Large volumes of denatured "alky" are recocked, especially the alcohol fixed for use in perfumes, cosmetics, soaps, and toilet waters.

In addition, great numbers of stills of illicit stills, are turning out alcohol, some of it pure, some of it poison, and today it is something of a drug on the market despite the activities of the rum navy in chasing the rum ships off the ocean front.

Some leading leggers say large batches of bourbon and rye have come out of bonded warehouses since the should be uniform or nearly so throughout the whole country.

"A step in this direction has already been taken by incorporating in the present law my proposition that 25 per cent of the taxes paid the states be credited on the federal tax, and the state of New York has already taken advantage of this provision by so adjusting its taxes on inheritances that it will receive several million dollars more in revenue without any additional taxes being paid by its citizens."

TRIB "AD" STAFF HEARS STORY OF PAPER'S GROWTH

R. R. McCormick Speaks at Convention.

One hundred and seventy members of the advertising staff of THE TRIBUNE gathered in Chicago from east and west for their semi-annual convention. They were taken, figuratively speaking, to the top of THE TRIBUNE Tower last night and shown the picture of the future.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, co-editor of THE TRIBUNE, showed them this vision. Addressing them at a banquet at the Blackstone hotel, he told them family secrets concerning business and building and other growth.

Address of Co-Editor.

His address was in part as follows: "Some of my fellow alumni are worrying about what effect the beautiful architecture of the new buildings for the college may have upon the university. They may be right. But we contribute much of their own greatness to the simplicity of the 18th century and the monstrosity of the 19th century architecture which housed them in their adolescent years.

"I don't expect that you will be overimpressed either by the beauty of the new buildings, which we are just finishing. Monuments remind of the past. Gothic architecture is suggestive of the cloister. It is therefore the antithesis of the advertising industry, living in the present and looking forward to the future.

"Bear in mind that if the building is classic in style, it is not yet finished. It is not, in fact, finished, but it houses its occupants for centuries. THE TRIBUNE is seventy-eight years old. And THE TRIBUNE Tower is its tenth building. Our buildings have lasted an average of 7.8 years.

One Lost in Great Fire.

"One of these buildings was destroyed in the great fire. They others had to be left because they could no longer accommodate the needs of the newspaper under new conditions.

"There are two factors in economics which the professors seem not to have learned. One is the loss inevitable to an advertising executive if his facilities must be abandoned. The other is the amount of new investment required to keep the old enterprise up to date.

"This investment is universally set down as profits. But what are profits to an investor when he cannot touch them?"

"In our own memory the building of 1871 was throttling THE TRIBUNE in the late 90's. It had to be destroyed in order to make room for the building of 1901. By 1915 that building was found inadequate for the installation of the then new process of rotogravure printing and the color press building was erected in Ontario street.

Build Plant in Boulevard.

"By 1919, after many interior reconstructions, it was found that the building of 1901 could no longer be made to accommodate our necessities. We moved to the north side and erected the plant illustrated. Only five years ago, and yet we had no little idea of what the development of Michigan avenue might be that we discreetly built on the east end of our lot and left the future to decide what the street frontage improvement should be. The plant was not intended as an architectural specimen. It was, however, carefully designed for manufacturing. It is the design upon which all subsequent newspaper plants have been modeled.

LA FOLLETTE ESTATE ONLY $39,000 AFTER DEDUCTING HIS DEBTS

Madison, Wis., June 25.—[Special]— Senator Robert M. La Follette left an estate of $65,000, subject to an indebtedness of $28,000, according to a will filed in the Dane county Probate court Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. La Follette is named sole beneficiary and executrix in the will. Senator La Follette's debts include a mortgage of $20,000 on the Maple Bluff farm and $8,000 of other personal obligations.

According to the will, the senator's personal property totaled $25,000, while the value of his real estate, which is his homestead, is placed at $48,000.

The personal items included in the personal property are his insurance policies, La Follette's magazine, and his library.

COOLIDGE PICKED SWAMPSCOTT AS A HIKING RESORT

Takes Long Walks Even
When It Rains.

BY GUY M'KINNEY.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Swampscott, Mass., June 25.—(Special)—All the mystery surrounding the question of whether President Coolidge established the summer White House on the Boston north shore to take a vacation or simply to get away from the heated Washington atmosphere, was dissipated today.

The President, it develops, is simply on a walking tour. Since arriving at White Court, the President has virtually never stopped walking except to eat sleep. He walks in the morning and he walks at night. When it rains, and it rained plenty today, he goes up and down the porch.

Appoints Indianan to Office.

Outside of walking, the President put in an hour at home looking over state papers today with his secretary, Everett Sanders. At that time he announced his first summer White House appointment. Harry Bassett, a Democrat of Indiana, was appointed a member of the United States arbitration and compensation commission. The President also made two engagements for tomorrow. One is with Mayor Edward F. Quinn of Cambridge, at 11 o'clock in the morning, and the other with the newspaper men at 4 o'clock.

It is not known whether the President will invite Vice President Dawes, who will be in Boston tomorrow, to visit the summer White House. Mr. Dawes will be a guest of Owen D. Young.

Indications that President Coolidge is not missing any opportunities to aid United States Senator William Butler hold his seat in the senate came today when it was learned that he had asked that the senator be included in a big gathering of Republican leaders and editors at Lake Attitash in Essex country, next month, which the President will attend.

Long Stroll in the Rain.

Today's weather was bad, with rain falling most of the day and a cold north wind keeping in from a white-capped ocean, but the President refused to heed the elements.

For two miles the President walked briskly away from the watchful eyes of marines and the police who surround White Court before he returned. It began to drizzle before he reached White Court, but clad in a black rain coat and dark felt hat, he kept dry.

Shortly before 3:30 the rain slowed up and then President Coolidge had another walk. This time he walked to the end of Little Point, the promontory on which White Court is located.

Mrs. Coolidge also took strolls today along the shores, untroubled of the rain. She was accompanied both times by Rob Roy, her white collie. The thermometer was 58 today. As soon as it warms up, the presidential party will probably enjoy motion pictures on the front porch.

HANDS OF DEATH

SPEED TOLL IS RAISED TO 343
BY MAN'S DEATH

A speeding automobile, bearing neither state nor city license, struck down and killed Charles J. Iverson, 66 years old, 3654 Dickens avenue, yesterday at North Cicero and Armistice avenues. The automobile, driven by Elmer Pruin, 1249 West 71st street, threw Iverson twenty feet. Pruin was arrested. Iverson's death raised the motor death total for 1925 to 343.

Charles Duerr, 7730 Prairie avenue, was held to the grand jury on charge of manslaughter by the coroner's jury. Duerr drove the automobile which killed Thomas Kieley, 27 years old, 8253 South Ada street, on May 20, at Michigan avenue and 75th street.

Mrs. Virginia Jelkins, 19 years old, 1837 Washington boulevard, was severely injured when she was struck by an automobile truck while trying to cross Madison street at Morgan street. George De Graf, 1256 North Western avenue, driver of the truck, was arrested and charged with assault.

GIRL CONFESSES
TRICKING STORE
TO OBTAIN GOODS

Mildred Hogan, 19 years old, a blonde, was arrested at the Morrison hotel yesterday on a charge of attempting to obtain $495 worth of lingerie and other finery from Mandel Brothers by false pretenses. Miss Hogan is said to be a daughter of the wealthy owner of an automobile agency at Indianapolis. Under questioning by Sergts. Michael Trant and John Noonan, she confessed.

Mildred Hogan made the purchases Wednesday and directed that they be charged to Mrs. W. C. Babcock, Rensselaer, Ind., according to the police.

Victory —but at what price?

PYRRHUS, after his victory over the Romans, with great slaughter on his own side, said, "If we have another such victory, we are undone."

Great generals of history since learned that the price of victory often is defeat.

Now in the commercial world, experts in selling economics are warning against too much pressure, too much expenditure, too much overselling, as leading to industrial "Pyrrhic Victories."

Recent business surveys, conducted through our establishments in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, and San Francisco, prove the soundness of that warning.

"Breaking last year's record," a noted banker is quoted, "has become a national obsession . . . if a man doesn't go ahead 10% every year, he thinks he is going backward."

Thus in dynamic quest for greater sales, greater selling expenditures are invited, advertising appropriations increased—and profits eaten up by selling costs.

Have you ever viewed your business from that standpoint?

Encouraged by prior successes, under differing conditions, are you perhaps paying too much for your present victories?

Knowing when to retreat is as important a factor in business and advertising strategy as knowing when to charge.

The most successful business generalship is in sensing the right moment.

Holding a strategic position often is immeasurably more profitable than advancing, at great cost, to gain a but little greater one.

* * *

Contrariwise, under some conditions, selling and advertising must be pushed to their utmost limit. For these times there come circumstances peculiarly responsive to intensive exploitation; times when, through sheer aggressiveness, profits may be multiplied and leadership assured.

"The Battle Only Goes to the Brave" may be an age old bromide. Yet, in advertising, Courage and Vision alone win—but tempered with the caution of conservatism.

The fruits of victory are for those who dare. But business victories are not worth while which too long defer or curtail a profit showing.

* * *

The experienced advertising agent plans campaigns on that basis. The end must justify the means.

He seeks greater sales and ever-increasing dollar volume for those whom he serves—but, above all things, entrenched leadership and consistent earnings.

Thus pressure should be applied only with due regard to profit sheets. And retrenchment advocated when safety from competitive attack admits it.

To us that seems but simple common sense. And common sense, as we see it—the application of its principles and policies—is the one open road to uncommon results in advertising.

The miracle of advertising is that when applied in a common-sense way, it brings magical results.

YES, WE'D LIKE TO PULL OUT OF ILLINOIS.

The city council passed a resolution of Ald. Toman directing the corporation counsel to give the council an outline of the proper legal procedure by which Chicago could try to separate from the state of Illinois and seek admission to the Union as another state.

We'll not get away, but that is not saying we would not like to. Just now it seems about the only way in which the representative form of government could be restored in this section of the United States. The people of Chicago are deprived of equal representation by the rest of the state and it is done by nullification of the state constitution. Already it has taken twenty legislative seats from the people of this county. Over half the population of the state is in Cook, Lake, Will, and Du Page counties, the metropolitan district, but control of the legislature is downtown.

It would be like to get away from the state of Illinois merely because of this injustice. We are sorry it can't be done. The injustice is the only reason the people of Chicago have for wanting to get away. They are otherwise bound by the history and traditions of the state. They are attached to it and are glad that it contains the diversity it does from the lake to the Ohio. But taxation without representation is just as unsatisfactory now as it was in colonial days.

The metropolitan district is taxed, but it cannot protect itself against laws prejudicial to its interests. The rest of the state is not content to deprive the city of its representatives. It takes advantage of its unconstitutional voting strength to pass laws for Chicago which Chicago does not want but cannot escape.

The abuse is not merely in theory. It has oppressive and prejudicial consequences. We do not blame the people of the state for this so much as we blame the politicians. The people condone it and the politicians profit by taking the seats to which they are not entitled.

A new state in this section would restore the people here to the rights and privileges of American citizens, and we are sorry that we cannot go out and go on our own, free from the middleman's interference of downstaters in matters which are properly none of their business. That would reduce Illinois to about a tenth string state.

There is one thing the metropolitan district can do if its people become sufficiently impressed by the threat against their local administration, their preferred habits of life (one bill in the legislature was to take their daylights savings from them), and by their political inferiority in the state. They can elect governors. They have the votes up here. All they need is a reason for solidarity. Then they can look for two qualifications in a candidate. One that he is a man of decent character, evidently fit to be governor. The other that he shall be a city man. They won't care whether he is a Republican or a Democrat.

They may not be able to elect their constitutional representatives and they may not be able to keep mischievous laws from being passed, but they can be certain that the vote will be used to protect them, and they have enough votes now to keep laws from being passed at a vote.

When injustice has aroused the people of Chicago sufficiently there will be no more downstate governors in Springfield. The administration of the state will be Chicago. It is not a political condition which the city would prefer or naturally seek, but people who cannot get their rock bottom rights and who are being misused because they are treated as inferiors will have to seek their protection where they can find it. They are only about three-fifths citizens in electing the legislature, but they are still full citizens in electing the governor.

THE POLICE MUST HAVE AUTOS.

Chief Collins has announced that a special appropriation will have to be made if the police department is to buy the hundred automobiles it so urgently needs. He says the department already is contemplating spending $700,000 more this year than it received in the budget.

The automobiles he is asking for are intended to give the forces of order something like an even chance against organized crime. Crime is motorized. The police department is scarcely motorized at all. A policeman in an automobile, whether patrolling a beat or pursuing a fleeing criminal, is worth six men afoot. The police at present have no few automobiles that the killing of policemen has become an ordinary event in the day's routine of crime. Once the criminal has disposed of the policeman who opposes him he need no longer worry about the rest of the department.

Chief Collins has explained how automobiles could help the police rid the city of terrorists. Had the department been properly motorized, he said, fifty police automobiles could have been patrolling the streets in the neighborhood within a few minutes of the time Policeman McGovern was killed for the $4,000 pay roll he was guarding. The odds then would not have favored the murderer's escape.

Chicago is one of the world's rich cities. It is also the crime capital of the white world. To argue that protection of lives and property is not a first consideration of the city's government, above all, of sending aldermanic junkets to Europe, is to invite an indefinite extension of the terror.

There are 300,000 automobiles, privately owned, in Chicago today. A city which can afford to buy that many can afford to buy a hundred more to assure security. The money must be found and it is the job of the mayor and the finance committee of the city council to find it.

PROHIBITION AND THE CONSTITUTION.

We trust Mr. Henning, in his report of the principles upon which the reorganization of federal prohibition enforcement will proceed, is well advised. Mr. Henning says the views recently expressed by the President on constitutional distinctions as to state and federal responsibility will guide prohibition enforcement hereafter. The change will be welcomed by every American who values our constitutional system.

In brief, the states will be expected to bear the responsibility of enforcement under local conditions, while the federal agency will deal with the international and national aspects of the problem. Federal agencies will deal with illicit foreign importation and with the chief sources of domestic manufacture, while the states will be expected to carry on the policing of their own citizens.

This is consistent with the American system, which does not impose on the central government local police duties. The contrary policy would increase the duties of the federal authority beyond the possibilities of efficiency and build up a central bureaucracy as costly and dangerous as it would be incompetent and corruptible.

Intelligent advocates of prohibition ought to be as favorable to such a policy as other conscientious citizens, for the confusion of federal and state functions can never produce such measure of efficiency in enforcement as may be attained by respecting our constitutional method.

It will also remove a part of the conscientious objection to prohibition enforcement which arises from our unwillingness to submit willingly to the destruction of the American system of government in a blind and blundering experiment at imposing universal teetotalism by federal law and authority.

Teetotalists zealots do not respect the American system because they do not understand it or give it consideration.

But happily a growing body of American opinion is awake to this aspect of prohibitionism and will welcome and support the President's effort to organize federal law enforcement with proper regard to the constitution and its wise distribution of state and federal responsibility.

It is to be hoped that the legislature is downstate.

MARVIN HUGHITT RETIRES.

With the retirement of Marvin Hughitt as chairman of the board of the Chicago and Northwestern railway one of the last of the remarkable men who made the history of rail transportation during its formative period in the United States passes from the stage of active affairs.

Mr. Hughitt has been the chief builder of one of the most successful and important of our railroad systems. Under his long management the Northwestern became a model of honest financial policy, of operating efficiency, and public service.

The Chicago of this generation has had occasion to thank Mr. Hughitt's railroad for the city's first modern station and for its most important suburban residence development, that along the north shore. Had other railroads shown equal enterprise and public spirit there would have been less reason for complaint of the treatment accorded the world's greatest railroad city by railroad management.

Mr. Hughitt put the Northwestern in the front rank of public utilities during a critical period of the development of Chicago and the west, and his service to our region and to American transportation is one of memorable devotion, ability, foresight, and enduring accomplishment. Mr. Hughitt has been a notable builder of our proud and midwestern empire and he has earned a leisure which we hope will last for many years.

THE MELTING POT.

Lane High school of Chicago defeated Flushing High in New York at baseball, 3 to 1. We still think of baseball, in spite of the popularity of football, as the most distinctively American game at which youth can play. It is the oldest on the soil, the first game of America developing into an athletic nation predilect in sports.

They may not be able to elect their constitutional representatives and they may not be able to keep mischievous laws from being passed, but they can be certain that the vote will be used to protect them, and they have enough votes now to keep laws from being passed at a vote.

When injustice has aroused the people of Chicago sufficiently there will be no more downstate governors in Springfield. The administration of the state will be Chicago. They are only about three-fifths citizens in electing the legislature, but they are still full citizens in electing the governor.

OUR INNOCENTS ABROAD.

The latest batch of American ladies accorded the special privilege of curteeing to the British king and queen number twenty-one. We wonder how many of them have paid their respects to the President of the United States or would present themselves to a like amount of trouble to do so.

FAIR ENOUGH.

Binks had a way of walking in his sleep, a failing of which he was greatly ashamed. Early one morning, after a long absence, he returned, with a pair of trousers rolled up and tucked under his arm.

"Where in the world have you been?" his wife demanded sternly.

"Down to the office."

"But why the trousers under your arm?"

"O—I thought I might meet some one."—American Legion Weekly.

Had the department been properly motorized, he said, fifty police automobiles could have been patrolling the streets in the neighborhood within a few minutes of the time Policeman McGovern was killed for the $4,000 pay roll he was guarding. The odds then would not have favored the murderer's escape.

Chicago is one of the world's rich cities. It is also the crime capital of the white world. To argue that protection of lives and property is not a first consideration of the city's government, above all, of sending aldermanic junkets to Europe, is to invite an indefinite extension of the terror.

There are 300,000 automobiles, privately owned, in Chicago today. A city which can afford to buy that many can afford to buy a hundred more to assure security. The money must be found and it is the job of the mayor and the finance committee of the city council to find it.

MALARIAL HEMATURIA. There is a malignant form of malaria which appears to be a mystery still. It is called malarial hemataturia. Dr. Patrick Manson spoke of it as "that conundrum of black water fever."

It develops, as a rule, in the autumn among people who have been having chills off and on all season. It is characterized by the passage of bloody urine.

No malarial parasites can be found in the blood, but this has caused many people to think it is not a malarial disease. Koch did not think so. Taking quinine will occasionally cause malarial hemataturia to develop.

OUR EARWORM EAR. J. R. writes: When I was a child I had earworm fever. My ear commenced running. The doctor said I would outgrow it. In consequence I became almost totally deaf in my left ear.

I am convinced that had my ear been cured in childhood I would now be enjoying full hearing ability.

After twenty years of running ear I commenced using the remedy which

COMRADES BURY POLICEMAN SLAIN BY THIEF'S SHOT

Collins Orders Men to Draw Guns Faster.

As Policeman Patrick McGovern was buried by his fellows at Mount Olivet cemetery yesterday, Chief Collins took steps to safeguard his men and also to combat the recent out-break of lawlessness.

The funeral services for McGovern, who was shot to death Monday while guarding a transfer of money to a bank, were held from his home at 2600 North California avenue.

Laid Beside His Brother.

His flag draped casket, borne to the hearse by brother policemen and an escort of uniformed men followed the body to St. Sylvester's church. He was buried beside his brother, James J. McGovern, killed fighting a fire a year ago.

Chief Collins yesterday reissued an old order of Jan. 21, 1925, in which he commands his men to carry their revolvers directly in front and always keep the lower barrel of their blouses open when they can easily draw at the first sign of suspicion.

When guarding money, attempting to question a suspicious character, or entering an enclosure in pursuit of a burglar or robber, the men are commanded always to hold their revolvers in hand, ready for immediate action.

Hopes to Get Flivers.

Chief Collins said he hoped the administration's retrenchment program would not force him to abandon plans to motorize the department further by adding 100 new flivers roadsters to increase the efficiency of the force. He expects to obtain the machines by transfer of funds within the department's appropriation.

YOUNG BOURNE AGAIN HELD ON WIFE'S CHARGES

(Picture on back page.) New York, June 25.—(AP)—For the second time in twenty-four hours, Arthur K. Bourne Jr. of Los Angeles, one of the heirs to a $40,000,000 estate, was arrested this afternoon on a warrant obtained by his wife, Mrs. Beatrice Bourne. The second arrest was on a civil charge based on her complaint of unpaid separation allowance.

The husband was arrested late yesterday morning at a Standard oil station preferred by Mrs. Bourne after an automobile chase down Park avenue. He pleaded not guilty in Night court to her complaint that he punched her nose and was released for a hearing tomorrow.

Husband Sued Year Ago.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 25.—(AP)—Divorce records here show that Arthur K. Bourne Jr. filed a divorce complaint against Beatrice W. Bourne on May 19 last. The charges made by Bourne against his wife were that she spent money recklessly, used opium, was a poor cook, and threw about lamps and scissors at him, pointed a gun at him, and threatened his life.

PENNSY R. R. NAMES COUNTY FINANCE HEAD

In carrying out its reorganization of the western region, the directors of the Pennsylvania railroad announced yesterday that A. J. County has been placed in charge of the company's treasury department, with the title of vice president in charge of the treasury and accounting departments and corporate work. This appointment will be effective July 1. The appointment fills the vacancy caused by the retirement of Henry T. Fallin as vice president in charge of the treasury. The directors have gone back to the plan of several years ago when one vice president supervised all of these departments.

Mr. County is 53 years old and has been in the service of the road for 35 years. He began as clerk.

The new consolidated western region of the railroad has practically closed the executive offices in St. Louis, with transfers to Chicago. T. B. Hamilton, vice president and general manager, is in general charge.

Arrest Rabbit Connell for $150,000 Jewel Theft

George "Rabbit" Connell was arrested yesterday on a warrant charging him with the $150,000 jewelry robbery committed in the jewelry shop of A. Gantman & Co., 16 North Dearborn street. His bond was fixed at $100,000. Connell's pal, Irving "The Immune" Schlig, is in custody and will be booked for the same robbery, the police said. Connell is under bond in a $125,000 jewelry robbery at the Parkway hotel several months ago.

Elmer Joins Fossil Hunt Via His Radio

And Plans Patagonian Vacation.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.
I'm in sort of a dilemma at this moment. The atmosphere was different last night. The musical broadcast were certainly not the dominating ones, because the banquet speeches and other talks were too conspicuous.

First, from WIBO, way up north and way down low on the dials, there was a first class, homesick program from 7 to 8 by the Messiah church ladies' octet, with selections by an instrumental trio. That the octet seemed to be voices just under maturity only added to the charm. Of greater import here is the thought that every so often this station, with its natural quiet tone and the quiet nature of the announcing, does things in a way that is altogether pleasing and commendable.

The Baroness Olga von Turk-Rohn, leader singers at 50 voices at W-G-N at 6:30, somehow failed to leave a lasting impression. The girls were not well trained and admirable voices and in a good program, but probably because their selections were so widely separated and too few of them.

Likewise, the Ukrainian-American choir at WMAQ, 9:15, did not make an impressing impression. Why, I don't know. Possibly the Apollo club has spoilt this listener for a day.

Now, the most interesting and important broadcast of the evening was as talk by Elmer Riggs of the Field museum on "Hunting Fossils in Patagonia" (South America) that took us back 5,000,000 years, more or less, and in addition furnished inspiration for a wild, dare-devil vacation down somewhere around there in this present era.

The most interesting and important broadcast of the evening was the after dinner speeches at the Catholic Conference on Industrial Problems, Morrison hotel, through KXYW, 8 to 10 o'clock.

There also was after dinner speaking from KDKA, Pittsburgh. This was the Philadelphia company banquet in celebration of forty years of public service in Pittsburgh. The new building, "where you pay your gas bills," jokingly remarked one of the speakers. The mayor of Pittsburgh and many industrial and civic celebrities were speakers.

FAVOR REMOVAL OF TROLLEY LINE FROM "DRIVE"

Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank of Chicago, and William A. Dyche, business manager of Northwestern university, testified yesterday before the Illinois commerce committee in favoring the removal of the Chicago avenue trolley extension along Lake Shore drive to the Municipal pier.

"No transportation company should be permitted to mar the beauty of Chicago's lake front," declared Mr. Traylor.

Mr. Dyche urged that as a substitute to the extension, a new line trolley line be built along Fairbanks court from Grand avenue to Chicago avenue.

RADIO PROGRAMS FOR TODAY (Daylight saving time throughout.)

Station W-G-N will join again this evening with WLS in broadcasting an offering of the Apollo Musical club from the studio of WLS. This evening between 10 and 11:30 Handel's oratorio, "The Creation," will be sung with Little Ambrose orchestra, broadcast by a fine program which will be heard on the following Chicago stations, W-G-N, WLS, WERB, WMAQ, and WQJ.

The third of the new W-G-N productions, which have introduced a revolutionary change in the program, will be offered at 8:30 sharp this evening by W-G-N. THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE THEATRE, the third production, on the heels of the successful "West of the Great Divide" and "In a Gondola," is called "In Old Heidelberg with the Student Prince," arranged by Quin Ryan and directed by Frank Bennett, with the cast of the Chicago Concert company, through the courtesy of the Baldwin Piano company, and the W-G-N String trio.

The Chicago Concert company is directed by Frank Bennett, and this evening's personnel will have: Watt Weber, tenor; Paul Mallory, tenor; Frank Bennett, bassoon; Walter Stever, violin; Arthur Sackett, pianist, and Marie Svetlik, soprano.

The W-G-N jazz scanner will be omitted this evening for the link broadcast at 10 o'clock from Station WLS.

YANKEES THWART JAPAN'S SCHEME ON OUR COASTS

Tries to Break Coastwise Shipping Act.

BY RAYMOND FENDRICK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BRUSSELS, June 23.—It developed today that Japan recently tried to enter the American coastwise trade.

At a meeting of the transport committee of the international chamber of commerce in Paris last February to draw up the program of the agenda to present to the general meeting of the international chamber in Brussels, the Japanese delegation submitted the following resolutions:

"In the light of the principles of freedom of transportation and communications as stipulated in the covenant of the league of nations, the congress is respectfully invited to use its best endeavors to induce the governments concerned to remove all barriers on coastwise trade in their respective countries."

Joker in Gesture.

In this resolution Japan frankly demanded the right to engage in the coastwise trade along the Pacific coast in return for giving American ships the same right in Japan, but the joker is that American ships could compete even less successfully against Japanese ships in Japanese waters than in American waters.

In the face of energetic American attitude the transport committee shelved the Japanese plan with the following resolution, which means nothing:

Sheve Japanese Plan.

Having considered the request of the Japanese national committee at the international chamber that the government grant the right to coastwise trade, the committee has recommended that the council of the chamber should instruct the secretary general to collect evidence showing how reservations of coastwise trade of various countries affects commerce with special reference to exports."

ITALY PLEDGES TO PAY U. S. ON 'CAPACITY' BASIS

Mellon Tells Envoys U. S. Demands Settlement.

[Chicago Tribune Free Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 25.—[Special.]—The Italian government has made its nation's capacity to pay the basis upon which it will negotiate a funding settlement of its war debt to the United States.

This was the one concrete result of the first conference between the commissions representing this and the Italian government today, a conference which opens the way for the settlement by funding of the sixth of America's wartime debts. The conference occupied almost three hours, and afterward Secretary Mellon, who is chairman of the American debt commission, announced that the conferees had gone into every phase of the problem of funding represented in Italy's obligation of $2,128,500.

Will Resume Next Tuesday.

Adjustment was taken until next Tuesday. There were reports, although these were not confirmed, that the Italian representatives desired some further information from their government, and it was decided that the further negotiations will hinge largely on the mechanics of transmission of the information which the foreign delegation will seek from Rome.

At the outset of the conference, which was behind closed doors, Mr. Mellon informed the Italian delegates that America was not unmindful of the difficulties faced by their government, but added that there was no attempt here to minimize the importance of constructive action. Mr. Mellon praised Premier Mussolini's decision, saying he had acted in his characteristic fashion in determining that the debt question must be settled now.

Mellon Lists Frankly.

"We do not minimize the difficulty of payment of your external debt," the secretary added, "but we know that the only way to settle the question is to fund the debt now, taking into consideration Italy's capacity to pay."

In reply to Mr. Mellon's reference to the capacity to pay, Ambassador de Martino, the head of the Italian commission, made the reply:

"The Italian government wishes to reach a settlement which it may be sure to fulfill. We have carefully esti-

DETROIT LAKE SHIP OPENS NEW SERVICE RUNNING TO CHICAGO

Detroit, Mich., June 25.—(AP)—Serenaded by the shipping along the Detroit water front the steamer Eastern States of the Detroit and Cleveland Navigation company swung from her dock today to inaugurate regular tri-weekly passenger and packet freight service between Detroit, Mackinac island, and Chicago.

Several Chicago officials and a delegation headed by Mayor John W. Smith were aboard. Mayor W. E. Duggan of Chicago will meet the boat when she docks there Saturday morning.

The Eastern States pulled away at 1:30 p. m., and is due to reach Mackinac Island Friday morning. Service will be continuous from today to Sept. 10. The steamer Western States also will be attached to this service.

Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday are the sailing days from Detroit. A boat will leave Chicago every Monday, Thursday, and Saturday.

marked the limits of our capacity to pay. It is obvious that a settlement practically impossible to fulfill, or one which might cause disaster to the debtor, is not desirable for either of us.

Italy Recognized Debt.

We recognize our debt to the United States, but we ask that due account be taken of the real conditions, economic and financial, in which Italy finds itself.

We are a nation made up of descendants of all the great peoples of Europe. There does exist among our people some sentiment toward our ancestors, and the very fact of the diversity of our inheritance makes it almost impossible for America to interfere on one side or the other in European political affairs. The American traditions are founded on common sense.

J. W. O'Leary Addresses Brussels Meeting.

BY RAYMOND FENDRICK

(Chicago Tribune Free Service.)

BRUSSELS, June 25.—The American people feel keenly that the time has arrived for a settlement of international debts. "John W. O'Leary, vice president of the Chicago Trust company and president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, declared before the international chamber of commerce meeting today:

"Predictions about the impossibility of transacting payments under the Dawes plan are premature as to the time when the plan should be adopted.

"The situation is so bad that country judges must be engaged, each at a day," declared Mr. Sloan, "and meanwhile the public mind must be plowed through the dense and tangled traffic. In a recent election seven new judges were added to the bench in an effort to speed litigation. I cannot see where they have helped."

In outlining the various improvement projects now under way, Mr. Sloan dwelt upon steps which are being taken to widen the streets connecting with county highways, which, he asserted, will solve the week-end traffic congestion problem on city-country main arteries.

"It is important to remember that the plan rests upon the assumption that Germany must be enabled to conduct her economic life unhindered."

"We are conscious of a certain amount of criticism by the European press concerning some features of our attitude toward our European neighbors. We have felt keenly the attempts to show that we are purely mercenary, seeking only to profit by the misfortunes of Europe, and that because we have not taken certain political responsibilities with relation to European situations it is evidence of our selfishness.

"We are a nation made up of descendants of all the great peoples of Europe. There does exist among our people some sentiment toward our ancestors, and the very fact of the diversity of our inheritance makes it almost impossible for America to interfere on one side or the other in European political affairs. The American traditions are founded on common sense."

Takes Up Dawes Plan.

In discussing the Dawes plan, Mr. O'Leary said:

"Whatever individual conclusions about the success of the Dawes plan may be, the fact remains that machinery has been created by which reparations may be assembled. The adoption of the plan already has accomplished much. The German mark is stabilized and a substantial advance has been made toward the industrial rehabilitation of Germany. The definite turn of that great country from the path of social and economic ruin to production is now evident.

"American business men believe amity will hasten the world's economic recovery. We believe it is vital that nothing be left undone to insure success, and we have faith in whatever may be accomplished through frank recognition of the problem which must be solved in connection with it."

"From the view point of the American business men, confidence is impossible if governments fail to recognize their obligations. Reputation is dangerous to those who overestimate their own power. The people of the United States are clear as to this principle. They believe experience has proved the soundness and wisdom of this principle. They believe the pound was restored to par value largely through confidence brought about by the so-called funding of the British debts."

"A spirit of fairness always will be maintained by the American people."

Resents Dawes Plan Criticism.

COLOGNE, Germany, June 25.—(AP)—Addressing a convention of German industrialists today, Dr. Ewald Schacht, president of the reichsbank, declared recent criticism of the Dawes plan.

"The situation is so bad that country judges must be engaged, each at a day," declared Mr. Sloan, "and meanwhile the public mind must be plowed through the dense and tangled traffic. In a recent election seven new judges were added to the bench in an effort to speed litigation. I cannot see where they have helped."

CAILLAUX SEEKS GOLD BASIS LOAN TO SAVE FINANCE

Plans to Speed Measure
Through Chamber.

BY HENRY WALES.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

PARIS, June 25.—Financial predicts in France will be shattered tomorrow when Joseph Caillaux reveals his proposal for meeting the national defense bonds, THE TRIBUNE learns.

M. Caillaux intends to outline his plan to the chamber of Deputies the first thing in the morning, and then go before the chamber, submitting the plan, which he hopes to jam through by nightfall, although a spirited debate is anticipated.

The finance minister proposes the creation of new bonds redeemable in gold, thus exempting them from exchange losses, and other bonds will be issued at 4 per cent and guaranteed at parity with the pound and dollar, thus insuring the holders against loss through the fall of the exchange market.

Some New Franc Drop.

The reception of this proposal by

French financial circles is impossible to predict, since the mark's complete departure from previous methods of dealing with such a situation. Some persons, coming of the party of the "Easterners," predict that a measure amounts virtually to admitting that the franc is going to drop further, while others state its final

will be to bolster the franc through confidence in these securities.

The national defense bonds issued during the war, and heavy payments amounting to many hundreds of thousands of francs, fall due within the next three months, beginning within a few days.

M. Caillaux's proposal will be part of a new Bank of France statute, which contains other details of the plan by which M. Caillaux proposes to save the state from bankruptcy. Well informed quarters, while not denying rumor, are not denying the possibility of this maneuver, but predict that a measure amounts virtually to admitting that the franc is going to drop

further, while others state its final

will be to bolster the franc through

confidence in these securities.

Paris Large Note Issue.

PARIS, June 25.—(P.)—The issuance of four or five billion francs in bank notes, or something equivalent, is accepted by parliamentarians and financial experts as the gist of M. Caillaux's plan to meet the July and September reimbursements of several billion francs in bonds that are considered certain to be presented. M. Caillaux is secretive because he does not wish his plan known until the bourse closes tomorrow.

MRS. SYMINGTON DENIES INTIMACY WITH TWO MEN

New York, June 25.—[Special.]—Mrs. Ida May Symington, in a low musical voice, today denied the charges of infidelity upon which Thomas H. Symington, wealthy sportsman, bases his suit for divorce, which he filed before Supreme Justice Ford and a jury. She declared there had never been the slightest impropriety in her relations with Maurice Faio, named as one of several co-respondents in her husband's bill. And on the night of March 11, 1924, which Talbot W. Chambers, wealthy coal operator, has sworn Mrs. Symington spent with him at his apartment, she told the jury she was constantly in her husband's company. Chambers is under bond on a charge of adultery growing out of his testimony.

Spent Night with Husband.

Mrs. Symington said that she and her husband had been to the Ritz-Carlton hotel that evening, and later went to the Vanderbilt hotel.

Mrs. Symington, who wore a small lavender hat and a tan coat trimmed with fur, testified unfalteringly and never once lost her composure. Under the definite questioning of Max D. Stauer, her counsel, she told the story of her life with Symington, which began with their marriage at Quissett, Mass., in October, 1919.

Lured Away by Sport.

She detailed her husband's early devotion, his waning love, and his gradual absorption by his horses and his fox hunting.

At the request of her husband, Mrs. Symington, said, she had signed blank checks and other papers so that by the middle of April, 1924, her bank account had vanished and she was stripped of all stocks, bonds, and other securities.

IDENTIFIED DROWNED MAN.
The body of a man found in the lake at the foot of Belden avenue Tuesday was identified yesterday as that of William Stamm, 35, of 1330 Dearborn street.

WILBUR TO PLAN NAVY ESTIMATES HERE TUESDAY

Washington, D. C., June 25.—[Special.]—Secretary Wilbur, who starts west on an extended tour Monday, will confer with Senator Frederick Hale [Rep., Me.], in Chicago Tuesday on various matters touching naval policy and appropriations.

Senator Hale, who is chairman of the senate committee on naval affairs, will arrive in Chicago Tuesday from Honolulu, where he conferred with officers of the United States fleet after the recent war games and with Senator John McDonald, relative to the needs of the navy at Pearl Harbor.

From Chicago, Secretary Wilbur will proceed to San Francisco and then go to Leland Stanford university, at Palo Alto, for the wedding of his son in the university chapel on July 6.

While on the west coast, Secretary Wilbur will inspect works of the naval establishment from San Diego to Puget Sound, and also will join the Annapolis midshipmen during part of their practice cruise to the Pacific coast.

"There are healthy, strong, and energetic. The settlers live on a communal basis, with a community kitchen, dining room, bakery, and baths. A community laundry is being organized. The women have equal rights and obligations with the men."

Order U. S. Machinery.
"It is the aim of the colony to create a model farm, engaging principally in dairying and poultry raising. The settlers have ordered a large assortment of agricultural machines from the United States, including three tractors, ensilage machines, culverines, etc. Most of the machinery has already arrived. American bottling machinery is en route and a system of delivering bottled milk direct to the consumer will be organized."

COOPER'S BONNIE OMAR CAPTURES AURORA HANDICAP

BY FRENCH LANE.

Aurora, Ill., June 25.—[Special.]—Only four horses went to the post in the mile Bishop Hotel handicap, which featured the races here this afternoon, but when Bonnie Omar came from behind to win, it turned out to be one of the best contests decided over the mud covered track and under racing conditions that were none too good.

There was another of those L. T. Cooper stable race victories, most of such events staged here this spring having gone to his high powered racing string. Bonnie Omar, a 4 year old son of Omar Khayyam-Bonnie Mary, was probably the best, but Jockey Kenneth Nee chose to let Dustabout cut out all the early pace and to come with a well timed run in midstretch to crowd his way to the front, and finally win by a length and a half.

Dustabout Second.

Dustabout, under his light weight, managed to save second money from the fast-finishing Scratch, while the only other starter, Aldeen, brought up the rear.

Clothes were still hanging low when today's program opened and there had been rain for several hours during the night and early morning, but even these conditions failed to keep the crowd down.

The biggest upset came in the running of the first race, when the Chago owned and overseen by the popular International racing stable, owned by Herbert G. Shimp of Chicago, arrived at the track from Latonia. All of the horses were in good shape except Epsomite, who developed a fever

INTEREST in the coming race season at Hialeah was created yesterday when the popular International racing stable, owned by Herbert G. Shimp of Chicago, arrived at the track from Latonia. All of the horses were in good shape except Epsomite, who developed a fever in shipment.

The stable is the shipment was Mark Master, which will be given some special preparation for the Chicago Derby on July 11. Among others in the lot were Postillion, John S. Reardon, Better Luck, Little Celt, Lady Allen, and Omnia.

Olympia Fields finished its two days "Hoot Man" tournament yesterday, better playing conditions prevailing throughout the two days. Hoot Man, the home club, who led the first day, towed the 72 holes with a total of 311, which drew the low gross prize. Jole Finn, also an Olympian, took second prize with 316.

The low net winners were O. B. Nugent, 291, and W. L. O'Brien, 286. Other prize winners follow:

A National Endorsement of the New Scientific Resco Fitting Machine

Recently I visited four different stores to purchase a pair of shoes. Three of them got out the measuring stick. Not one of them had a size stick. The fourth store, however, which was a Regal store, and for the first time in thirty years my feet (not foot) were measured correctly. Before it was the turn of the Regal store to fit the shoe, but this time it was the shoes that had to fit the feet. (Milton N. Harger, Syracuse, N. Y.)

The ideal shoe is the one that gives the most comfort consistent with perfect fit. Not the foot, but the shoe, is comfortable sitting down. Your weight on your feet eliminates guess work and does away with the need for a size stick. (John Macdonald, St. Louis, Missouri)

I walk constantly for forty-eight hours a week on a concrete floor and have suffered from feet absolutely worn out, until I bought Regal Shoes fitted by the Resco Fitting Machine - since then my feet have been as comfortable as in the morning. (Mr. M. Peterson, Oakland, California)

You wish your shoes comfortable for walking; that why be measured in them sitting down? Any shoe is comfortable sitting down. Your weight on your feet eliminates guess work and does away with the need for a size stick. (Mrs. Susie Morris, Fulton, Ky.)

If there is room enough for perfect comfort in your shoes in a sitting position, then they are comfortable when you are standing. The old-fashioned size stick proves the case for Resco by asking you to stand up in the new shoe. AFTER Resco has measured your feet, you are comfortable standing. (J. Harry Thompson, Philadelphia, Pa.)

Two men, six feet tall, one weighs 260 pounds, the other 140 pounds. The 260 pound man's feet are six inches wider than his. Are their shoes the same size? No. The 260 pound man's foot expanded more under pressure when standing so he should have a longer and wider shoe. (E. H. Savage, Worcester, Mass.)

I purchased a pair of Resco shoes when there were the stars with perfect comfort and have worn them every day since without trouble from either shoes or feet. In fact, for the past ten years I have never enjoyed the use of my feet as I do now. (E. P. McMahan, Elkhorn, N. Y.)

The "RESCO" eliminates the ill effects on the feet from walking-in new shoes, commonly known as "shoe break-in." (Louis Martin, Box 287, Anacortes, Washington)

One foot is usually larger than the other. In most cases it is the left one. Since to fit should be measured to the larger foot. The only way to get the larger foot to stand on a Resco size stick is to stand on the smaller foot. The Resco machine tell you the length and width of both feet under the weight of the body. (E. P. McMahan, Elkhorn, N. Y.)

The scale on the size stick is a futile attempt to combine mathematics and guess work. It stands as a monument to old style inefficiency - no person by measuring the length of one foot can tell the size of the other. (A. Haynes, Liberty, N. Y.)

(Experiences with Resco in the Army). I do not recall a single instance where a Resco size stick after a few uses was not used on large numbers of men. (W. H. Robinson, Army & Navy General Hospital, Hot Springs, Ark.)

"It took me less time to buy a shoe than it does to write this letter," says William C. Taylor, a leather buyer of Baltimore, Md.

Once men hated to give up their old shoes because they dreaded breaking in new ones. After Resco was installed, they were happy to get new shoes for they were assured of a comfortable fit. (May Flynn, Washington Square College, New York City)

On April 1st we announced to 9,965,384 wearers of shoes that we had installed the new scientific "RESCO" Fitting Machine exclusively in all Regal Stores from New York to San Francisco.

In order to focus public attention on the present antiquated and inadequate method of measuring and fitting feet, and remove the cause of so much suffering from mis-fitting shoes, we offered $1000 in Prizes for the best letters answering the following two simple questions:

- What do the marks on this old-fashioned size stick mean - are they inches, or millimeters, or what?
- What are the advantages of the new scientific RESCO Fitting Machine over the old-fashioned method of measuring feet with a size stick?

The overwhelming and enthusiastic response from 34 different states, - even from far off Honolulu, proved conclusively that our announcement aroused a National Consciousness to the importance of having shoes properly fitted.

SYNOPSIS.

Larry Vall, a handsome young woodman, is commissioned by Howard Franklin to build a hunting lodge on Franklin's forest preserve. With the help of two friends, Hugie Knowles and Sid Evans, Larry works all through the winter. Mrs. Franklin and Mr. Franklin's niece, Marcia Kerr, come to spend the summer at the camp, while Franklin goes to California on business. Mrs. Franklin is interested in taking pictures of the deer and Larry is to accompany her on her photographic expeditions. On their way back to camp one evening a storm overtake them and they go for shelter to a little camp in the woods. Reids Franklin is terrified, and clings to Larry for safety. He puts his arms about her to protect her and she loses her head. She tells Larry about her uncle, Howard Franklin, to whom she has been writing. Larry repulses her. On their return to camp they find Howard Franklin. Marcia gains her uncle's consent to return with him to the States to prepare herself for a life. Larry offers his resignation to Franklin, who confides to Larry that he has taken over the Barnall timber mill, near Sabawi, and offers him the job of running it. Larry accepts the position, and Franklin returns to California. Sid Evans comes to the mill to work for Larry and the latter learns from Hugie Knowles that Sid makes occasional visits to the Franklin camp to see Reids Franklin.

Jefferson Shand, one of a small group of men who own the hunting property jointly with Franklin, comes to the mill for help. Shand proposes to get possession of Franklin's mill. Larry sends to headquarters for a reliable office manager and Marcia appears in answer to his request. Against his will he allows her to let her work in the mill office. Larry uses all the available timber in record time and is given power of attorney to Franklin to sell the timber. He receives a fair offer for the logs, but it is not enough to cover his expenses. The contract carries a time penalty clause. Larry and Marcia go on a hunting expedition. They each realize they love each other, but Larry does not speak of love to Marcia.

A government inspector is sent to Sabawi to cancel the Bagnall Timber company's cutting permit. Larry at first decides to fight the government on the cancellation, but finally agrees to its decision when he is offered five thousand dollars in cash and an option on a larger acre tract which has hitherto been unavailable.

On his way to the mill Larry meets Sid Evans, who has been drinking. He tells Larry he is in it for him. Larry offers to pay for his drink. Larry takes him back to the mill, after giving him a hundred dollars. He tells him he will take him off on the train in the morning. After putting Sid to bed Larry settles the balance of the money he has received from the government agent in the office safe. During the night he is aroused, gets up, and finds Sid has disappeared and the money taken from the safe. He goes in search of him and stops at the Franklin camp, where Hugie outfit him for the trip. Reids overhears his conversation about a hurried trip to the border, and, believing he is running away for cause, goes to the mill to taunt Marcia. Franklin arrives and Reids tells him Larry has run off with the money he has received for the cancellation of the Bagnall permit. Larry overtake Sid at the border and induces him to return. Sid gives to the money he had taken and Larry replaces it in the safe, telling no one of his escape, although he himself has been under suspicion for it. Marcia tells Larry she never ceased to trust him, and he tells her he loves her.

Do Women Actually Prefer Careers to a Home? Here's Answer

BY DORIS BLAKE.

You hear a lot of chatter about women choosing careers in preference to matrimony. I have often wondered how many women you could find who had deliberately weighed out against the other the scales of the career. I mean where there was a man the girl truly loved to be turned down. I don't mean the countless cases where a man was considered as a matrimonial possibility, but did not measure up to future hopes as well as the career. I mean where a girl turned her back on love.

I've had a private suspicion that her number is infinitesimally small in the whole world of women. It has been something else than fame that beckons her down its long, hard road. Perhaps it was not meeting the one man, the ideal creature; not meeting any eligible male; meeting the wrong man; or a disappointment.

Louise tells me they had an interesting debate on the subject at her club recently. The club is made up of business girls and several professional artists. They range in age from 23 to 28. They took a vote on it, and there was not one girl out of the group of fifteen but agreed her career was thrust upon her, not sought out. They admitted their school friendships that might have led on to love, but no immediate proposal had arrested their attention when a living had to be made. Some of the girls said they had never met the man who appealed sufficiently; that the ones they liked, liked some one else, and so to keep just on running their typical careers, the girls were still hopeful, however, that out of the west there'd come one who'd loved them lovingly to the castle of their dreams. Not necessarily a castle, either—a bungalow built for two would do.

Louise, herself, said she loved a young man who worked in the same office. For a year they were side by side. Then he moved in business for himself, and for a year they went together. He loved her then. Later, he came to love another girl, and wrote Louise to that effect.

It hurt, of course, but there was nothing to do about it but to go on transcribing her notes and trying to keep the team from blotting them out of recognition.

"At twenty-five she says: 'I know I can never love another man, for down in my heart something tells me that my man has passed.'

"So you see," she adds, "some of us girls who are judged as preferring a job to a home are not at fault. It is just a trick of fate."

Point of Others.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 14. I am in love with a boy two years older than myself. He is too conceited and I can't stand such a person. Please give me some good advice." HARRIET.

aren't there other boys with nicer dispositions with whom you can chum? Boys who will not expect constant admiration, and who will be just good friends. I'm sure there are many of them.

It Would Be Unwise.

"Dear Miss Blake: I'm in love with a young man, whom I have only seen a few times. Would it be advisable for me to call him up?" WAITING.

Unless you wish to queer yourself with him, waiting. I shouldn't call him. You have an excuse in the world for doing so, and he would look upon you as one of those telephone pests, and avoid you.

Better grades of beef steers experienced additional advances of 10%, carrying the top to $12.00, or 35c above the next highest daily top this week. More cattle sold above the $12.00 line than any day this year, the majority of sales being within a range of $10.00 to $12.50, against a bulk of $9.75 to $11.50 the previous Thursday. Advances on in between and commoner steers were checked, the 5,000 receipts being slightly above expectations and fully equal to demand at the elevated quotations. Butcher stock ruled at $2.00 higher, desirably $83 lb hifers at $12.00 establishing a new top for the year. Calves weakened after a strong start. Stockers and feeders were quiet.
Clothing hogs were lowest of the season. Prices ruled steady to 15c lower, with packing grades weakest, due to excessive offerings of poor to fair mixed. Shipping orders were larger than usual for Thursday, which helped better grades. Top butchers averages 22,000 to 24,000 lb. General average prices dropped to $11.25c, against $11.25c two years ago. Packers purchased 10,000 to 12,000 hogs, or 75c to 87.5c, against $8.75 two years ago. Packers purchased 14,000 to 16,000 hogs, or 75c to 87.5c, against $8.75.
Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 1,000 cattle, 24,000 hogs, and 7,000 sheep, against 3,300 cattle, 20,000 hogs, and 8,200 two weeks ago. Good 143 lb range wethers were quiet.
Sheep Receipts Small.
Sheep receipts the first four days of this week totaled 20,000, against actual arrivals of 45,347 a week previous, which were smallest in more than a year, barring holiday periods. Further upturns of fully 50c were cited in fat sheep and lambs, top Idaho range lambs reaching $16.50 and $17.50. Bulk of sorted lambs, 8,000 to 9,000. Top Idaho range lambs, 10,000 to 11,000. COOLIDGE KEEPS PLAN TO LET FOOT WAR B

Squelches Plan to Lower Tariff

BY GUY M'KINNELL
(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

Swampscott, Mass., June 26.—Efforts on the part of the governments to force the United States to cancel the war debt indirectly foot Germany's payments by lowering the tariff and curtailing production in the States were emphatically squelched by President Coolidge today.

His principal attack was toward statements made in Brussels by Sir Joshua Sneyd, British financial authority, one of the English members of the Dawes' reparations commission. Joshua declared that, unless Germany could sell her wares, she would comply with the Dawes plan. In consequence, the foreign debts of the United States would be paid that country.

Proposed Tariff Cut

He proposed that the United States lower the tariff and thus encourage so that Germany could sell her products in this country.

It is the President's opinion from press reports and editorials that this suggestion is simply another on the part of the European side to be met by which the allies due to the allies from could be collected from the United States.

According to the official statement, the President does not believe American people would take any plan which would force Germany to pay the reparations, even indirectly. The President's spokesman said that the methods have advanced in Europe, all of which as their main object the United States to pay the war debts.

Proposed U. S. Advance

In connection with the proposed tariff downward, the President is represented as being proud of the great gains in commerce since the war, a known that he has been advised the most recent figures in Section show that important country are 50 per cent greater than they were before the war.

President Coolidge's attitude was developed at White House most immediately in advancing his plan by Vice President Dawes, who dropped off his hour's drive while motoring to New York, N. Y., to Boston, Mass. Owen D. Young, his associate in the reparations commission.

The Vice President and Vice Coolidge exchanged greetings about the first floor of the manor, then wandered out to the where Mr. Coolidge proudly presented the various objects of beauty.

Dawes Silent on Dawes

Gen. Dawes posed for the cameras, but refused to discuss his plan or his visit with Young.

He did, however, put in a for a change in the senate during the session he has been great since his arrival here.

The President, who has been most of the time, turned today, making two to the White Court. Tom was to motor to Cambridge and announced that he would leave in July.
